Your Personal Strategic Plan

Successful organizations have mastered the concept of Strategic Planning with a purpose of identifying the vision, organizing and allocating resources to support that vision, and monitoring success. During the monitoring phase, some aspects of the plan may be emphasized or removed based on their alignment to the overall vision. It makes sense, doesn't it? Keep your eye on the ball to create a successful business by selectively using the people and resources necessary for achievement. Well, what about your life? Do you have a vision with a strategic plan aligned to help you reach your ultimate personal goal? Don't worry. Most people don't. A Personal Strategic Plan will create the foundation for you to focus on what matters to you most. Once the vision is set, you can determine the return on investment that you are getting for your expenditure of time and energy. During this session you will learn the value of having a Personal Strategic Plan and will walk away with practical ways to develop and ultimately master your own plan, starting with a thoughtful and meaningful vision. Everyone has a passion inside. The most essential and valuable contributions that you bring to your life and to your work are your abilities to think, to act and to get results. This program gives you the tools to design a roadmap to achieve your dream!

About the Presenter

Anne Calle is a Leadership Coach with the County of San Diego District Attorney's Office. With over 24 years of Human Resources Management, executive coaching, and leadership development experience, she has dedicated her career to helping professionals remove blocks and uncover blind spots to become their personal best.

Anne has presented at various organizational C-Suite meetings, association lunches, and Human Resources conferences nationwide. Since starting her role with the District Attorney's Office in 2014, she has designed multiple training programs, including The San Diego County Regional Leadership Institute, www.sdcdca.org/office/sdcrli/, a 3-week, 42-course institute for local, state, and federal law enforcement leaders. Anne also provides workshops programs focused on self-awareness and leadership development for the District Attorney Prosecutors, Investigators, and Professional staff.

Inspired by the lessons learned through her coaching experiences, trainings focused on communication, emotional intelligence, leadership development, ethics, mindfulness, valuing generational differences, and self-awareness, have become the foundation of her work. She is pleased to present her newest addition:

Your Personal Strategic Plan.
